Multiple choice (Part 5)

Answers

- 2 1 C (So why is the soulmate myth so powerful? Maybe it's because we don't like thinking that life is messily random. Or we need a romantic way of describing intense physical attraction. Or maybe it's just shorthand for the kind of overwhelming emotion we don't quite understand.)
- 2 C
- 3 D (This was an unconventional opinion, which probably seemed revolutionary at the time)
- 4 A (They know these over-idealised romances don't bear any relation to reality – so they don't take them seriously)
- 5 B (testing global understanding of the whole paragraph)
- 6 A (fate may need a helping hand)

My closest friend

When I met Natalie, I didn't think we would get on, but she turned out to be one of my closest friends. The first thing I noticed about her was her hair. It is bright red and she has pale skin, so her appearance is very striking. The next thing I noticed was that she talked extremely fast. We had all just arrived at university and no one knew anyone else. A lot of us were feeling shy and a little homesick. She was rushing around, trying to organise some social event. I admired her energy, but I was a little afraid of her at first.

Then one day, she knocked on my door when I wasn't feeling well. She made me a hot drink and we chatted for ages. It was fun to talk to someone who looks at life in a completely different way. I think we get on because we are not at all alike. It is a friendship that has lasted to this day. She's always the first person I talk to if I have a problem and she always helps me to sort it out.
